Profile

Bruno accepts instructions in all areas of Chambers' work, offering the full range of advocacy, advisory and drafting services. Bruno has a particular focus on employment, clinical negligence, personal injury and professional regulation. He also accepts public law briefs and has been instructed in a number of judicial reviews.

Further detail of Bruno's work can be found under the relevant headings below.

Before coming to the Bar, Bruno enjoyed a successful career in management and operations for a global high-end restaurant group, allowing him to hone excellent client care skills.

In addition, having previously worked as a paralegal (between law school and the commencement of pupillage), and having now been on secondment as in-house counsel within a large respondent employment firm, Bruno is particularly aware of the demands placed upon his professional client.

Before commencing his legal studies, Bruno read for a BSc and MSc in biological sciences.

During his professional training (BPTC), Bruno won three national advocacy competitions, including the BPP National BPTC Mooting Competition, judged by Lord Neuberger in the Supreme Court. He attained a further prize in an international mediation tournament held in Chicago in 2013. Bruno was awarded the Lord Denning Scholarship and Lord Brougham Scholarship from Lincoln's Inn.

Testimonial

"Well prepared and eloquent, Bruno is an exceptional all round advocate who possesses the intelligence and flexibility to adapt a case to changing circumstances in court. In addition to his outstanding presentational skills, Bruno upholds an admirable level of client care and is adept at guiding individual claimants through the difficult and stressful tribunal process. Highly recommended."
